

Letter from Mabel Hubbard Bell to Alexander Graham Bell, 1876, with transcript

Letter from Miss Mabel G. Hubbard to Dr. Alexander Graham Bell. (1876?) My dear Alec:

In case we do not see you, I write these lines to tell you neither Mamma nor I think it would be nice for us to be with you this evening. We should only be in your way, you will have enough to do attending to Sir William especially with your headache. I can't tell you how disappointed I am, but indeed I do think it is best so -

You will come out when ever you can tomorrow and tell us about it all. Only if you feel inclined to rest in the daytime do so, you will be all tired out poor thing — and we will restrain our eagerness.

Goodbye dear, all success to you which you so richly deserve.

Mabel. Mamma is too tired to stay anyway.
